SUBJECT. Rules regarding Irrigation Wells in Mysore.

LAST REFERENCE. Letter No. 68 dated 23d Dec. 1893 from W. B. G. Krishnamurthy, On special duty in Connection with Irrigation Wells in Mysore.

Paper No 14

In letter No. 2444/208 dated the 23d September 1893. the Deputy Commr of Chitaldrug District suggested certain alterations in respect of Rule 17 of the above Rules and based his suggestions on the unworkable nature of the rule and the consequent hardship to people who apply for Loans

NB Individual Complaints and report thereon are marked 1 to 13 in this file.

2. To rule 17 the Dy. Commr. proposed the following addition
"If however it becomes impossible to complete the well within the sanctioned loan, an application for an additional loan, may be made after the amount originally applied for and obtained has been fully Expended. On receipt of such application the work done should be measured up and estimated for at the rates mentioned above. After satisfying himself that the further loan applied for, or a portion of it, is necessary for the completion of the work, the Divisional or other officer appointed for the purpose, may sanction the payment of such loan in such instalments as he may deem proper provided however that the conditions of Rules 2, 5 and 6 are not infringed."

Paper no 16.

3. On being asked for an opinion Mr B.G. Krishnamajar states that the alteration suggested seems necessary, but however observes that as the amount of the loan will be in proportion to the value of the land and the probable irrigable area, further advance should be limited to these conditions.

4. Extracts from subjects bearing on the question in point are submitted for orders together with Copies of Rules. separately

5. Mr. Krishnaswami's letter No 44 dated 5th October 1893 reporting on ~~certain~~ petitions from certain Ryots of the Chintamani Taluk is pending orders. The Petitioners complain that when they executed ~~certain~~ some earth-work to wells for which they had received advances, Mr. Krishnaswami issued a circular reducing the rates and that consequently they could not complete the work. In his letter under reference, Mr. Krishnaswami does not give a word of explanation as to the circumstances under which he issued this circular.

In the Diwan's reply to the Representative Assembly (Vide Subject No 267) the Diwan Bahadur has promised to send for this obnoxious Circular. If approved, Mr. Krishniengar may be requested to submit a copy of this Circular explaining the reasons for issuing the same, and the rates which were being allowed prior to the date thereof.

Subject No 138

Modification of the rules regarding advances for Irrigation Wells.

Summary of discussion

One of the conditions on which money is lent by Govt. for the construction of wells or Sagavali Kattes is that the work shall be completed within a specified period of time. It often happens that the work is not completed within the stipulated period and for this reason though it is due to causes beyond the Ryot's control and though the Ryot has spent on the work more than what he borrowed from Government he is called upon to refund the advance. This is hard. Govt. should either lend more money to allow of the work being completed or cancel the condition regarding refund of the loan. The probable cost of repairing or constructing a well should be more liberally estimated than at present, the difficulty in procuring labour is being taken into consideration. The period for the completion of such work should be extended to two or three years according to the circumstances of each case. If the work requires more money than the original estimate an additional loan should be granted by Government.

Note. The Deputy Commissioner remarked that the rates prevailing in the D.P.W were generally the rates adopted and were in most cases liberal enough. He was in favor of an extension of period and had recently addressed Government on the subject, suggesting a slight modification of Rule 17 (Vide his letter No $\frac{170}{145}$ dated 1st. September 1893) He admitted that in some cases there was real hardship by the Com-

GOVERNMENT OF MYSORE
-pletion of work becoming impossible for want of funds, the original estimate having to be greatly exceeded in consequence of unforeseen difficulties

Dewan's reply. The point will receive attention. There is nothing to prevent the advance being increased, ie, to say a further advance being taken to complete the work

Summary of discussion

GOVERNMENT OF MYSORE

Subject No 267

Coercive measures in recovering Irrigation Well advances.

Irrigation Wells, for which advances have been granted, could not, in many cases, be completed, within the prescribed time owing to their having received a large supply of water during the heavy rains of 1892. The local officers demand repayment of the entire advance for failure of the completion of the works within the time originally granted for the purpose and are threatening the grantees with Co-ercive processes in the matter. The work is estimated for at lower rates than those allowed in the Public Works Departt. Orders shd be issued for the extension of time so as to allow the borrower to complete the work after the well gets dry, and when the work is completed to repay the loan in the prescribed instalments. 10

In several cases the original estimate and the time and amount at first granted have been reduced by subsequent Circular and much annoyance is caused

Dewan's Reply. People should not be frightened. No needlessly harsh or Coercive measures should be adopted. We shall send for the abnormal Circular and see. This is apparently issued by Mr Krishnaji

Subject No 754.

Extension of Rules in regard to grant of loans for constructing wells to wet and garden lands.

Summary of discussion

Under the rules now in force, loans are granted only for repairing or constructing wells in dry lands, but the same concession should be shown to persons desirous of repairing or constructing wells in wet and garden lands. In the Chittaldrug District a large extent of lands is cultivated under Kapilé wells. The ryots should be supplied by Govt with water pumps, the actual cost being recovered from them by instalments as in the case of loans granted for other agricultural purposes.

Dewan's Reply - No objection.

It is doubtful that pumps will be popular - A water lift better in all respects than the Kapilé has yet to be invented

Sir

In reply to your memoranda
Pet Nos. 42, 78, and 79, dated 13th Instant, I have the honor to state that the petitioners who received advances to construct wells of different dimensions failed to do the work, or to show reasonable able progress in spite of repeated extension of time. In their as in the case of several others, the amildar having finally reported that the persons are not likely to do the work within any reasonable time, orders had to be issued to recover the advances made to them in accordance with the terms of their mutchalikas.

2. After the first advance for a well is given, as I am required to ~~satisfy~~ myself that a proportionate amount of work is done before making further payments, the maistries employed for this work, have been directed to submit periodical progress reports. For their guidance certain rates for earth and stone works were fixed, but this had nothing to do with the petitioners. The petitioners as others both directly and through the Sevvi[illegible] amildars were distinctly informed that if they executed works in proportion to the advances received by them, the balances due to them would be paid. The allegations in the petitions are merely made to gain time and divest themselves of their responsibility to complete the works within the stipulated period.

The enclosures of the above are herewith returned.

In resubmitting the petitions marginally noted received with your memoranda Nos 42 and 78 dated 13th July 93, and your docket No 2649/219 dated 8th August 93, I have the honor to state, That the petitioners originally agreed to complete the works within the time shown in the margin against their names. Advances were accordingly made. They failed to abide by their agreements. Further time was however given till the end of December last. They they again failed. They were next given time till the end of March 93, with a similar result. Finally they were distinctly informed through the amildar, that if the wells are not completed before the end of June, the advances made to them would be recovered with interest. Notwithstanding this, they failed to complete the work as promised, or to show reasonable progress. As the amildar reported that they are not likely to complete the works within any reasonable time, orders were issued to recover the advances. From the reports of the amildar recorded on the several petitions herewith submitted, it will be clear that the petitioners do not deserve any consideration.

Pending final orders from Government, the amildar has been directed to refrain from adopting ing coercive measures for recovering the advances.

(48) (14)

No. 244. Ex:
208. "

Deputy Commissioner's Office
Chitaldroog District
Dated Chitaldroog 23rd September 1893.

To

The Chief Secretary to the Government of Mysore
Bangalore.

Sir, I have the honor to suggest a slight modification of Rule 17 of the Special Rules framed in respect of loans for the construction of Wells and published for general information by Notification No. 183 dated 21st July 1891.

2. Before applying for loans, a rough estimate is made of the probable cost of carrying out the works to which they relate. After enquiry, the officer appointed for the purpose, considers the grant of the loans applied for. The money is advanced in two or or three equal instalments according to the progress shewn by the applicant. So far, the rules are quite unexceptionable. It is after the advance of the last instalment has been made, that difficulties sometimes arise. As the rules at present stand, the Ryots Concerned cannot claim a larger sum than that originally applied for until the work has been Completed and measured up. This rule not infrequently entails great hardship on the applicants. I cannot explain myself better than by putting a Concrete case before Government. A applies for a loan of 300 Rs: for the construction of a Well. At the time of applying, he believes that he could complete the work within the amount asked for. The first instalment of Rs: 150/ is paid to him in advance. He spends it and applies to have the work done by him measured up. It is found that the work has been done instalment. The second or last instalment is thereupon advanced to him. He expends it upon the work, but finds that the Well is far from nearing completion. Unexpected difficulties arise such as, the meeting with of loose soil, or rocky soil, or the necessity of digging much deeper than was originally estimated for. He supplements the Government loan with his own resources, if he has any, but finds that they do not go far enough. Instead of 300 Rs: which was the original estimate, it is found that the work cannot be satisfactorily finished under a thousand Rupees. He is either wholly unable to raise a loan from private money lenders, or cannot raise it on reasonable terms. What is he to do in such cases? The Government will not give him an additional loan because the work has not been Completed. Nor is this all. The Government will compel him to repund the loan already advanced. This will probably drive him to a merciless money lender, who will take advantage of his helplessness and impose severe terms on him. Or, he will be obliged to part with his lands and other property in order to enable him to meet the Government demand. In the result, he will, in return for all his labor and property, have on his hands a partly excavated well, which cannot be turned to any good account and which may collapse sooner or later. In describing his troubles I may assure you that I am not drawing upon my imagination. Cases of such hardship have actually come under my observation. There are several wells in this District, which have not been fully completed for want of funds. The ryots concerned have expended the entire loan on such wells and they have also spent on them some more money of their own. Both these together

together have proved insufficient and the Wells remain in a state of incompleteness. The language of Rule 17 does not permit of such Ryots seeking further aid from Government. When they ask for it, they are told that nothing could be done for them until "the Completion of the Well".

3. In these circumstances, I am of opinion that the rigours of Rule 17 should be relaxed wherever necessary. There is no object to be gained by postponing Government aid until the Ryot has involved himself in difficulties by raising the requisite funds by a private loan, sale, or otherwise. In the interests both of the Ryot and of Government, it is highly undesirable that works started with Government loans should be left incomplete. I admit that such cases cannot be many, but where they do arise the rules must be sufficiently liberal to admit of relief being given. I beg to suggest that some such addition as the following be made to Rule 17. "If however it becomes impossible to Complete the the Well within the sanctioned loan, an application for an additional loan, may be made after the amount originally applied for and obtained, has been fully expended. On receipt of such application, the work done should be measured up and estimated for at the rates mentioned above. After satisfying himself that the further loan applied for, or a portion of it, is necessary for the proper completion of the Well, the Divisional, or other officer, appointed for the purpose, may sanction the payment of such loan in such instalments as he may deem proper, provided however that the Conditions of Rules 2, 5 and 6 are not infringed."

From

B. G. Krishna Iyengar Esquire
Sub Divisin Officer on special duty.

To,

The Chief Secretary to the Government of Mysore
Bangalore.

Sir,

With reference to your Memo No 9726/2006, dated 20th Instant, I have the honor to state that I quite concur with Mr. Sreenivasiengar, in thinking that the alteration suggested by him in Section 17 of the Special Rules for Irrigation

Irrigation Wells, is necessary.

2. As however the amount of loan will be in proportion to the value of the land and the probable irrigable area (Vide sec. 6. of the rules) the further advance should be limited to these conditions: for instance, if the probable irrigable area is 5 acres, and the eventual value of the irrigated land is Rs 200/-, the loan cannot exceed Rs 400/-. If the original sanction for the well is Rs 300/-, the officer authorized to sanction the loan may make further advances up to Rs 100/- i.e. in all Rs 400/-.

3. I have had before me some such cases of hardship as that described by Mr. Sreenivasiengar, but as the persons were able to supplement the grants, I told them to do so, promising to settle the account finally under the rules. There may be persons who are unable to help themselves, though

though temporarily, in the above manner, and in their cases the suggested change in the rules will be a boon.

I have the honour to be
Sir,
Your most obedient servant

To The Director (Vitaldrug)

16. On receipt of an application, the Amildar shall inspect the land and make summary enquiry in the village as to the correctness of the entries in the application, and shall report whether the land will be commanded by the well; and what will, judging from that of like land in the neighbourhood, be the market-value of the land if the well is successful.

The report shall be transmitted to the Divisional or other officer appointed for the purpose, who shall examine whether the loan can be made under the rules, and, if no objection is found, shall accept the application and order the Amildar to advance one-third or half the amount of the loan applied for, after taking an agreement from the applicant to the effect that the money received shall be applied to the purpose intended, and that a substantial and properly constructed well in full working order shall be completed within the time allowable for the execution of the work. Such time shall ordinarily be 6 months, but in case of loans exceeding

Rs. 300, the officer granting the loan may extend it to one year. When the first instal-ment of the loan advanced is expended, the applicant may apply to have the work measured and estimated, and, if work is found to have been done to the value of the first instalment, a second, not exceeding one-third or half the loan applied for, may be advanced; when work for this amount also has been executed, the remainder of the loan, if any, may be advanced. If however it becomes impossible to complete the well within the sanctioned loan, an application for an additional loan, may be made after the amount originally applied for and obtained, has been fully expended. On receipt of such application, the work done should be measured and estimated. ~~in the manner mentioned above~~. After satisfying himself that the further loan applied for, or a portion of it, is necessary for the proper completion of the well, the Divisional or other officer appointed for the purpose, may sanction the payment of such loan in such instalments as he may deem proper, provided however that the conditions of rules 2, 5 and 6 are not infringed - No interest will be charged on the instalments thus advanced. If default is made in the construction of the well, the amount of the preliminary advances authorized by this rule will be recoverable from the applicant as arrears of revenue. But when the work is not completed having had to be abandoned owing to causes beyond the applicant's control, such as no water being found, the expenditure incurred shall be borne by Government.
